Republicans, However, Not Expected to Fight Actively on Truman Choice

Vandenberg O.K.

Prospective Secretary Takes Firm Stand in Handling Russia

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—Critics of Dean Acheson scraped the bottom of the barrel today in search of Senate votes against his confirmation as secretary of state. Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), foreign policy, told a reporter he doesn't know anyone who is going to fight the nomination actively. Capehart wouldn't say how he will vote, however. Neither would Senator Brewster (R-Mc.), whose friends said he might be among the few who would not go along with President Truman's choice for the top cabinet job.

Sees No Opposition
Chairman Taft of Ohio said that while he will poll the Senate Republican Policy Committee to see if any members want to make an issue of the cabinet choice, he doesn't know of any opposition now.

The 13 to 0 count by which the Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved Acheson's appointment yesterday, formally lined up Senator Vandenberg (D-Mich.), chief Republican exponent of the Bipartisan Foreign Policy, behind the nominee.

Vandenberg told reporters he is preparing a brief speech of approval for Tuesday, when Chairman Connally (D-Tex.), said the matter will be brought before the Senate.

Vandenberg apparently was satisfied with Acheson's expression of views on world questions at yesterday's closed committee sessions.

But there seemed little likelihood that his relations with Acheson will approach for some time the intimate basis on which the Michigan senator and Secretary of State Marshall dealt in handling international problems.

Hits Communism
Acheson put himself squarely on record against the doctrine of Communism in a statement which the committee made public.

The prospective new secretary said: "It is my view that Communism as a doctrine is economically fatal to a free society and to human rights and fundamental freedoms. Communism as an aggressive force in world conquest is fatal to independent governments and to free peoples."

Committee members saw this as fitting in closely with the administration's present firm policy with Russia.

But some of them said it was not to be taken as an indication that Acheson is committing himself in advance to any set course in a world where conditions can change quickly.

Democrats generally were pleased at the impression Acheson made in public hearings and at yesterday's closed session.

Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, the Democratic national chairman, said he thinks Acheson acquitted himself well and will benefit in his new post by having aired his views on Capitol Hill.

Rob Fur Salesman
Milford, Conn., Jan. 15 (AP)—Manuel Price of 63 Market street, Long Beach, N. Y., reported to police here last night that two men had robbed him of his automobile, $800 in cash and furs he valued at $2,000. Price, a fur salesman, said the hold-up occurred when he stopped for a traffic light on the Boston Post Road in West Haven. He said the two men, apparently coming from a car which had stopped behind him, forced their way into his machine and drove it here where they dropped him and fled.

Mumps Increase
Kingston and Vicinity Hit Hardest This Year
Dr. James Reports

The number of cases of mumps, a disease which was made reportable last month, has exceeded the number of last year for Kingston and its immediate vicinity, according to Dr. George James, county health commissioner.

No cases of serious complications from the disease have been reported to the county health department, however, he said, and there have been no instances of schools being forced to close because of the disease.

Mumps is a seasonal disease. This year, Kingston and vicinity seems to have been hit strongest, whereas last year the southern section of Ulster county reported the greatest number of cases, Dr. James said. Mumps is the common name given epidemic or infectious parotitis.

Chinese Reds Capture Tientsin; City Is One Of Death, Desolation

General Piao's Victorious Troops Seize Burning City Following Artillery Barrage That Devastated Many Buildings

Shanghai, Jan. 15 (AP)—The great commercial city of Tientsin, battered by Communist shells and afire in several places, fell to Chinese Reds today in what may be the crowning blow to Chiang Kai-shek.

Victorious troops of Red Gen. Lin Piao, conqueror of Manchuria, seized the burning city after a fierce artillery barrage that devastated all landmarks and many buildings.

Radio reports from the "Gateway to North China" described the city of 3,000,000 as one of "death and desolation."

Many civilians were killed. Hospitals were jammed with wounded.

Robert Smyth of Berkeley, Calif., U. S. consul general, radioed that all of his staff was safe.

"So far as can be ascertained all other Americans (about 80 in number) are safe," Smyth radioed.

Down broad Victoria Road, which winds through the heart of the former British concession, the Red conquerors marched, stopping in front of the U. S. consulate to fire their rifles into the air.

Before the United States Information Service office in the former French concession, a few blocks away, they stopped and fired their rifles into the air again as Americans watched from the roof of the building.

Confirmation of Tientsin's fall came in messages received in

Hope Move Will Coax Sweden Off Neutrality Fence

New 'Allies Only' Label on American Arms Is Aimed at Sweden

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—Officials expressed hope today that a new "Allies Only" label on American arms will coax Sweden off the neutrality fence in the cold war against Russia.

State Department Press Officer Michael McDermott told a news conference yesterday that the United States cannot spare military equipment for nations unwilling to enter a defense alliance against Communist expansion.

Officials said that was aimed straight at Sweden, where press reports have taken the opposite tack. Sweden has suggested that her northern neighbors cold-shoulder western alliance bids and join her instead in a policy of strict neutrality.

The State Department followed up McDermott's statement with an announcement that last summer Sweden received 30 P-51 fighter planes which are no longer in operating condition but which can be used to replace parts in planes the Swedes already own.

Stockholm reports said earlier this week that Sweden had urged Norway and Denmark to spin the projected North Atlantic Military Alliance for an iron-clad Scandinavian military pact. In any case, Sweden indicated, she would remain aloof from the treaty being negotiated by the United States, Canada and five European nations.

But even the Scandinavian alliance plan was regarded by diplomatic authorities here as a long step in Swedish policy, which once called for strict no-alliance neutrality.

State Department officials reportedly feel that in today's divided world such a purely Scandinavian policy is untenable.

300 Indians, Native Blacks Dead in African Race Riots

(By The Associated Press)
Durban, Union of South Africa, Jan. 15 (AP)—Three hundred Indians and native blacks are believed to have been killed in two days of race rioting in the Durban area. Nearly 400 have been injured.

The rioting ebbed somewhat today after the intervention of South African armed forces but sporadic outbreaks occurred in several suburbs.

Officials in Johannesburg made the casualty estimate. They said a majority of the Indians are evacuating Durban, fleeing to surrounding villages with their remaining possessions.

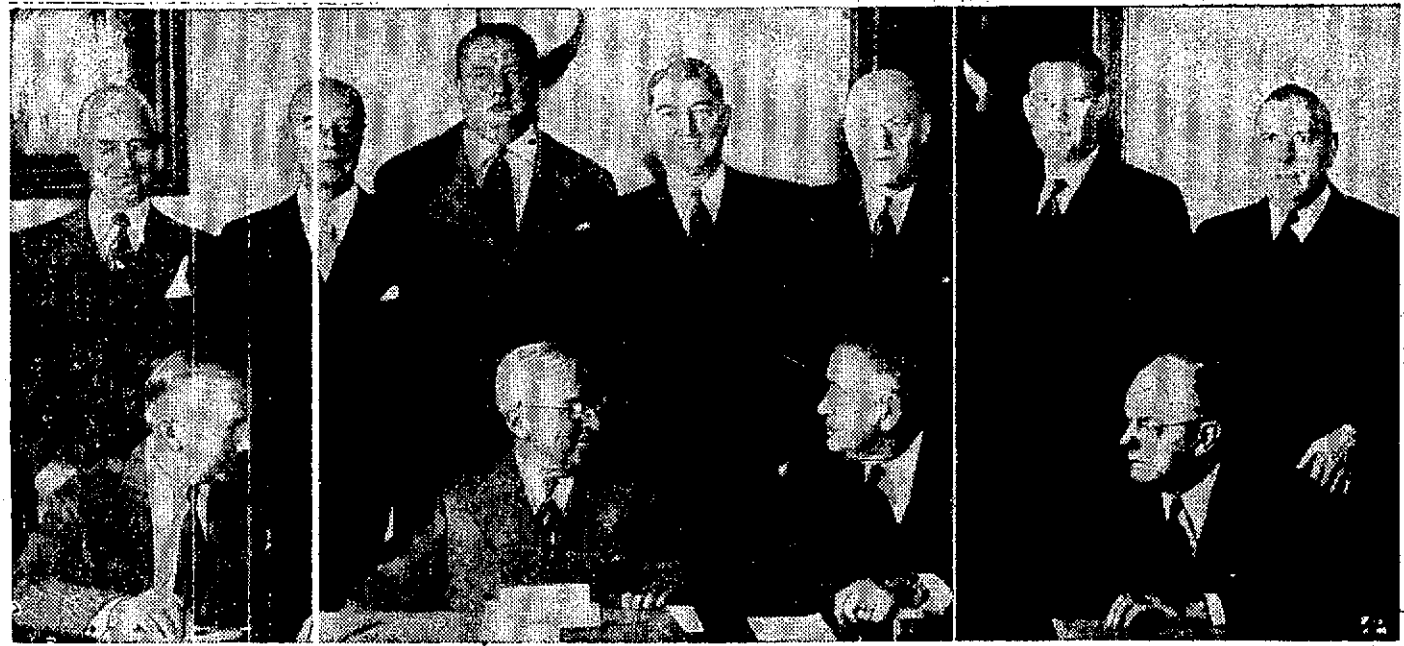

Police arranged areas of refuge where the Indians could come for protection. More than 200 police reinforcements already have arrived in Durban.

One European (white) was killed and a dozen were injured as a result of the two-day riot. It was the first time South African military units have been called to quell racial violence. The damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

Defense Minister F. C. Erasmus wired Durban that if the situation

No Peace, He Says Until Troops Leave

Indonesians and Dutch Study Plan of U. S., Britain Concerned

Lake Success, Jan. 15 (AP)—An Indonesian spokesman said today there never will be real peace on the islands unless Dutch soldiers are withdrawn quickly from Indonesian Republican territory.

By quickly, this spokesman said, he means within a week.

Indonesian and Netherlands representatives are studying a rough plan for a settlement reported drawn up by the United States and backed by China, Norway and Egypt so far.

The plan was said to have been examined with interest by British delegates late yesterday while the Security Council heard another round of speeches in the Indonesian case. The Council adjourned until 3 p. m. (E.S.T.) Monday, with no indication whether a resolution would be placed before it at that time.

The United States plan was said to contain these main points: 1. The Dutch and the Indonesian forces to discontinue immediately all military action. 2. The Dutch to release immediately all political prisoners arrested since the latest military action began last month. 3. The progressive withdrawal of Dutch troops from territory of the Republic of Indonesia under supervision of a commission on Indonesian. This commission would include a stronger version of the present Committee of Good Offices, made up of the U. S., Belgium and Australia.

4. Establishment of a temporary federal government of the United States of Indonesia by March 15, 1949.

5. Elections by Oct. 1, 1949 to choose a constituent assembly, out of which would come the government of the U. S. of Indonesia.

6. Transfer of sovereignty by the Netherlands to the United States of Indonesia.

Highland Woman, Girl Injured in Auto Crash

A mother and her daughter were injured Friday evening, near Highland, when the automobile in which they were riding struck another car and ran off the road, through a guard rail and into a embankment, state police at Highland reported.

The injured, who were treated at the scene by Dr. Peter F. Lott of Highland, were Mrs. Ann Maroldi, 43, and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Maroldi, about 11, both of Highland, state police said. Mrs. Maroldi suffered a brain concussion for which she will be X-rayed today, according to police.

The two persons were riding in an automobile driven by Leo Maroldi, 53, also of Highland, and were going east on Route 291. About two and one-half miles west of Highland, the car struck the front of an automobile driven by Leslie LeRoy Bundy, 35, of Poughkeepsie, who was going in a westerly direction, state police reported.

Following the collision, the Maroldi automobile continued through a guard rail and came to rest against the embankment, police said. Both cars were damaged, police said. No arrest was made.

Bag Factory Thief Punches Time Card

Levine Reports Burglar Took Candy Machine, Scattered Keys

A thief who dutifully punched a time card is being sought by Kingston police today.

At 5:50 a. m. today, Morton Levine, president of the Kingston Bag Fumigating Corporation, reported to police that sometime during the night someone had entered the corporation's building at 42 Mill street, stole a candy dispensing machine, punched several time cards, and left a number of keys, which had been on a board in the office, scattered about the building. The time cards were punched at 2:57 a. m., Levine told police.

The value of the candy machine is not known at this time, Levine said.

Preliminary investigation was made by Patrolmen Edward Leonard, Leonard Ellsworth and Walter Fitzgerald. The investigation was turned over later today to Detectives Clarence Brophy and William Krum.

Mayors to Ask Dewey to Give $75,000,000 More From State

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 15 (AP)—The Dewey administration, harried by mounting demands on the treasury, will be asked to add about $75,000,000 to funds allowed cities and villages.

Slute aid to localities totaled more than $85,000,000 last year, under the Moore Plan.

The State Conference of Mayors said yesterday that a revision of the Moore Plan had been "heartily endorsed" by most city and village officials.

Morgan Strong, the conference's executive secretary, reported that the agency's members had in mind changes which would double the cities' per capita payment of $6.75 and "at least double" the basic $3.00 rate now paid to villages.

The basic $3.55 per capita payments to towns would not be affected. The revised scale is expected to be included in the conference's legislative program, which will be announced early next week.

Strong estimated the proposal would cost $70,000,000 to $75,000,000 annually in state aid in-

Wanted to Know How Trade Tip Got Out

Prices of Fats and Oils Went Up After Plans Made for Europe

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP)—The government is trying to find out who tipped off traders a week ago that the Agriculture Department was going to boost its export allocation of food fats and oils for this quarter.

When news got out that the government was going to hike overseas shipments of these items by 107,000,000 pounds prices of some fats and oils went up.

There was no indication that the government itself suffered financial loss because it has not yet gone into the market for that part of the fat allocation which it supplies occupied Germany and other areas.

The official announcement of the extra export allocation was made yesterday. It called for 109,000,000 pounds of lard, cotton seed oil, soy beans, soy bean oil and peanuts in addition to the regular allocations previously announced for the January-March period.

Now officials want to know where the leak developed. Export allocation plans are kept strictly secret to prevent speculation on commodity markets. The allocations are determined by the Agriculture and Commerce Departments, with help from the State and Defense Departments.

An investigation is being conducted by the compliance and investigation branch of the Agriculture Department's production and marketing administration.

Just where the extra 109,000,000 pounds of fats and oils will go was not announced. Neither was the type of procurement.

But the Agriculture Department did release this breakdown: The total will include 30,000,000 pounds of lard; 9,300,000 of soy bean oil; 2,200,000 of cottonseed oil; 57,000,000 pounds of soy beans; 5,500,000 of peanuts and 5,000,000 of unspecified oils.

262 Communities

The conference represents all of the state's 62 cities and more than 200 of the larger villages. Payments under the Moore Plan to cities, villages and towns for the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1948, totaled $85,441,399.

The conference also is expected to recommend that the new state aid program be financed by earmarking 25 per cent of the state's receipts from a 100 per cent collection of the state personal income levy.

The tax now collected at only 60 per cent of the legal rate. The other 40 per cent is forgiven.

The Dewey administration has said that it probably will ask the Legislature to restore the full income tax rate. The governor indicated however, that the $100,000,000 in new revenue which would result would not go for direct state aid.

The Democrats' legislative program calls for an upward revision of the Moore formula and the C.I.O. and A.F.L. state organizations are seeking rises in aid to

Attorney General Says Even Old Spy Cases Should Be Tried to Protect U. S.

Proposes Hook-up

Recommends Army, Navy and F.B.I. Put Efforts Together

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—A sweeping revision of the espionage laws has been proposed by Attorney General Clark as protection against "the treacherous operations of those who would weaken our nation internally."

He asked Congress for unprecedented peacetime power to press spy charges no matter how long ago the offense occurred, and said law officers should have the legal right to tap wires for evidence in such cases. When wires are tapped now, the resulting evidence has no standing in court, because Congress has never legalized the practice.

The bill Clark sent last night to House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) and Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) of the Senate Judiciary Committee embodied the unanimous recommendations of an inter-departmental committee made up of F.B.I., army and navy intelligence experts.

Jury Hampered
Their submission to Congress follows an 18-month investigation by a special federal grand jury in New York city into alleged foreign spying in this country, and a lengthy and sensational inquiry into the same subject by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The New York Grand Jury returned no indictments for espionage, and Justice Department officials asserted that it was hampered because existing laws place a limit on the time for prosecuting suspected spies.

The grand jurors did indict Alger Hiss, former State Department official, on charges that he lied when he told them he never gave secret state papers to unauthorized persons in 1938.

Whittaker Chambers, an admitted former member of a Soviet espionage ring, had testified before both the grand jury and the House committee that he received important documents from Hiss for delivery to Russian agents.

Looks To Future
The attorney general made no specific reference to the 1948 spy hunt in his recommendations to Congress. But his proposals placed heavy emphasis on measures designed to prevent any future slipping of government information.

Besides the request for power to get evidence by tapping wires and by-pass the statute of limitations in spy cases, he asked changes in the espionage laws to:

1. Make the unauthorized possession of restricted government documents a felony.

2. Require the surrender of such documents to proper authorities without demand.

3. Make illegal the unauthorized handling of national defense information which could be used to the advantage of any foreign nation—instead of requiring intent to harm the United States, as at present.

4. Punish failure to report the loss, theft, "abstraction, destruction or unlawful transmission" of restricted information.

5. Punish conspiracies involved in the gathering, transmission or loss of defense information.

6. Require the registration as spies of persons who are "at least temporary" increases in direct, state aid to localities.

Fish Asks Question Charges Truman Is Mulish in Calling Spy Probe 'Red Herring'

Washington, Jan. 15 (AP)—Charges by former Rep. Hamilton Fish (R-N.Y.) that President Truman acted like a stubborn Missouri mule in the congressional spy probe have been calmly brushed off by the President.

The New Yorker, Mr. Truman said, was just prejudiced.

An exchange of letters between the Chief Executive and the ex-congressman was printed in the Congressional Record yesterday at the request of Rep. Katherine St. George (R-N.Y.).

Fish took exception to the "red herring" label Mr. Truman applied to Communist investigations by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

"Who," asked Fish, "is the State Department trying to cover up?"

Color Has Charm

The color of our surroundings assumes the color of our daily lives. Colors seep into our consciousness, influencing our spirits, our moods, our well being. A gay, room adds a note of buoyancy, an exhilaration that lasts throughout the day. Likewise, lack of color can be depressing, giving a drab, morose outlook to sensitive persons. Loud inharmonious color schemes induce a jarring note that brings restlessness and irritability to those who are forced to live with them.

Summertime*Closet Glamor

Stripping the rooms, substituting colors and fabrics more in harmony with Summers' breezy airs is an old story to most practical householders. To get the best of over-stuffed closets so they don't raise one's temperature every time a door is opened is an altogether different matter! Ruthless packing-away in moth-proof boxes and containers of every single thing that isn't needed is a tiresome chore but it does add space to bedroom closets.

A few extra yards of the material used for your Summer bedspreads can be handsomely utilized to line your closet walls and shelves. Carefully measured and sewn to a light muslin or theatrical gauze backing, they are simply installed on closet walls by tucking from the top, along the sides and at baseboard with small colored pin-tacks.

A simpler treatment is to use wide bandings of your bedroom chintz, quilted and edged in a contrasting color if possible—on shelf edges, hat boxes and lingerie cases which rest on the shelves.

Various of the new, thin plastic fabrics lend themselves beautifully to both bedroom and closet decorative effects. One recently seen—a pale grey with snowflake motifs of enameled silver—is available by the yard. Lush, full window curtains draped and floated to the knees, could easily be turned out on one's sewing machine. The silvery and opaque material, mounted over pink or dull blue wallpaper in a closet would be as rich and exciting-looking as anything turned out by Hollywood's best dreamers-upperst.

Paint Colors Ancient

Paint colors, as we are familiar with them in paint today, are said to have been created near the beginning of the 15th century. It is not known just when they were adapted to house painting. The Romans had hitherto used a type of wax, made fluid over fire, in paint making, but the details of its manufacture have been lost.

THE LEOMINSTER

HOME OF THE WEEK: "The Leominster," another version of the Cape Cod cottage, is a practical house for a growing family. The first floor is a complete living unit; the second may be left unfinished until it's needed.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

Cape Cod Cottage' Has Universal Appeal*Design Permits Top Floor to Remain Unfinished

Although of New England origin, the Cape Cod cottage has become popular in all parts of the country. It seems to have a strong appeal for young married couples and this not surprising, because the design permits building on a budget—finishing off the first floor at the start and leaving the second floor to be completed later.

In "The Leominster," the "Home of the Week" Plan Service, presents a Cape Cod cottage with full living conveniences on the first floor. This 31x29-foot structure has a cubic content of 18,000 feet. The semi-attached garage adds 12 additional feet to the overall width, so that a lot with not less than 60 feet frontage will be required.

Pleasant Variation
The front elevation is definitely Cape Cod in style, dressed up in the example pictured by a white railing fence, gate and lantern-topped gate-post. The architect gives the house a pleasant variation in style through the use of a bay window at the side, and an unusual manner of joining house with garage.

A stock pattern Colonial front door opens on an entry hall with arches at either side opening to living and dining rooms. The straight stairs to the second floor ascend from this hall, and there is a coat closet at the side of the stairway.

The living room, measuring 16x14 feet, is at the left of the front hall. Two windows on the front of the house, and a pair of side windows flanking the fireplace, make this room bright and cheerful. Under the side windows are built-in book shelves. Two walls of the room are left unbroken to facilitate furniture placement.

A door at the inside corner of the living room opens on a small rear hall. The first floor bedroom opens off this hall, which passes the bath and cellar stairway and leads to the kitchen. A linen closet and storage closet are in the hall. There is also a closet in the bathroom, which could be planned to include drawers for towels, bath rugs, etc.

Has Good-Sized Kitchen

The kitchen should please any housewife, both for its size and convenient planning. Measuring 12x10 feet, the kitchen has a breakfast nook, a built-in wall cabinet and counter by the range, and a long working counter with cabinets above along the outside wall. At the end of the counter, a door opens on an entry hall where there are two closets for brooms and cleaning implements, and the family's stormy weather gear. Access to the porch is given by a door from the rear entry hall, and from the porch one may step into the garage or front or rear yards.

Even the garage has been planned with storage possibilities in mind. Not only is there a sizeable tool room at the far end of the garage, but overhead storage of screens and storm windows is provided in the garage proper. The porch area, the architect suggests, could be extended along the garage to create a laundry room. And most owners will see to it that the porch is screened in for Summer, and glazed for Winter comfort.

Completing the first floor plan is the 12x10-foot dining room, connected with the kitchen by a swinging door. The bay window in this room makes it seem even larger than it is, and there is a built-in china closet with linen storage drawers at its base.

A Full Cellar

There is a full cellar which should be partitioned off to place heating equipment under the living room, laundry equipment under the bathroom, leaving the entire area beneath dining room and kitchen for a recreation room or any other use the family desires. On the second floor the stairs and in a small hall between the two bedrooms. A lavatory is opposite the stairs.

The larger bedroom measures 14x13 feet and has two spacious storage closets, storage drawers built-in the eaves, and a door opening to storage cubbyhole under the roof. The smaller bedroom also has built-in drawers and an unusually large closet. Both rooms have double windows looking out on the rear yard, and a side window to give cross ventilation.

"The architects' recommend full insulation of roof and sidewalls. Wood gutters and copper downspouts connected with dry wells, or sewer system if available, are called for in the specifications.

Complete plans and specifications for "The Leominster," and all other houses in this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 1-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply. (Copyright, "Home of the Week" Plan Service)

Door Lights Convenient

A front door or entrance light can repay the home owner in convenience many times more than the modest cost that goes with installing such a light.

Besides making it no longer necessary to fumble blindly for the light can be an attractive feature of the house. Inviting to visitors, entrance lights can turn a gloomy exterior into one of cheer.

Usually these lights are placed over the doorway or on the walls at each side of the door, and they should be controlled by a push-button located inside the house. Care should be taken in selecting the fixtures, for to fully serve their purpose they should be in harmony with the design of the home.

Book Shelves Can Conceal Radiators

Book shelves can be made to conceal unsightly radiators. The shelves should be the same height as the radiator, and when possible should extend across an entire wall.

When the radiator is at one end of the wall, a cupboard may be built at the other end for balance. One row of books above the radiator will conceal it further. Such shelves, however, decrease the convection of heat.

Unless the heat output of the radiators without the shelves is more than sufficient to heat the room adequately, they should not be installed.

Outdoor Terraces Often Too Small

More than half of the outdoor living terraces, which have become so popular in recent years, are really too small for comfort. A paved terrace on ground level should be at least 16 feet wide, and, if possible, about 50 square feet should be allowed for each person who is expected to use the terrace. In other words, if there are six in the family, a terrace 16x20 feet in dimensions is not too large.

Polish for Registers

Floor registers will not have that rusty look if you will give them a coat of liquid stove polish occasionally. It takes but a few minutes and certainly improves the appearance of the register.

Tricks to Deal With Too Little Space Problem

With an all-time high premium on space, the home-maker is forced to be architect, floor-space planner, storage-space expert and to possess such powers of rapid mathematical calculation, as to what will fit in where, as would cause an Einstein to pale with envy. But there are tricks in dealing with this problem of too little space!

Armless chairs—upholstered or otherwise—are more often used in overcrowded space than those of too well-padded design. Chests of simple design with the laudable characteristic of blending into the background, light fixtures which provide the maximum of light and yet call little attention to the fixture itself—these are a few of the aids necessary today for those who are taking what living quarters they can get!

Make the corners of a small apartment of small house count. Use corner pieces of sectional cabinets rather than tables. Low chairs in a conversational grouping will fit into corners. Built-in units, utilize odd spaces. A daybed, for instance, can achieve the appearance of a sofa if it is placed in an alcove formed by a framework which extends two feet or more beyond the length of the couch. Into these extensions oversized, square-box chests may be built for storage space. Wall-hung cabinets in small space dining and bedrooms are ultra-modern and easily made by the man of the house or local carpenter.

Wall-to-wall carpeting gives small spaces a much larger look than standard size rugs. Plain, textured fabrics serve to create an effect of spaciousness. Low furniture of medium-scale prevents the claustrophobia induced by heavy bulky pieces housed in a small area. Light woods of definitely contemporary lines are a better buy than period pieces in the darker, traditional woods.

Joists Need Stiffness As Much as Strength

Floor joists must be stiff as well as strong for good flooring construction. The distinction between these two qualities frequently is not recognized by the layman, builders say.

A 2x8 joist, for example, may be sufficiently strong to support an anticipated floor load with no danger of collapsing. Yet it might vibrate or bend under a sudden heavy weight or footfall, causing the whole room to shake, or the floor to sag at the point of pressure.

The strength of a joist varies as the square of the depth. Stiffness varies as the cube of the depth. Thus a 2x10-inch joist is nearly twice as stiff as a 2x8-inch timber, but only about one and one-half times as strong.

Know Whereabouts of Utility Connections

Do you know where the connections to the outside are made for your telephone line, gas, light and water?

If you don't know, it would be a wise idea to find out. Water and other utilities must be turned off when the owners plan to go away for a long length of time. If they know where the connections are, they will be able to tell the public service man who comes to do this little job. This will save the time, and will also mean more rapid resumption of utilities when the owners return.

How to Use Color

If the room you plan to repaint has a northern exposure, cheer it up by using one of the warm colors: red, yellow or orange. For a sunny room, cool colors (those grouped around blue in the color wheel) are preferable. Large areas of yellow in a very sunny room result in glare.

MARCH OF DIMES
The 1949 March of Dimes got underway Friday in Kingston and Ulster County. Last year residents of the city and county responded very generously, contributing a total of $13,600, and there is every indication that they will come through this year with a record amount.

Last year's epidemic of poliomyelitis was the greatest since 1916. The continued cost of the care of the victims has put a severe drain on the National Foundation's funds.

Even if 1949 is not an epidemic year the National Foundation, through the March of Dimes, must collect at least $30,000,000 so it can be sure that all the victims of the disease receive the treatment that will, as much as possible, give these children a chance for a healthy normal life.

The dimes and dollars given to the 1949 appeal of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will enable the organization to rebuild chapter funds for research, establishment of convalescent centers, polio patients and advancement of money to stricken communities whose funds may have become exhausted.

Your contribution to the March of Dimes also will assist the local committee in purchasing wheelchairs, braces and special shoes and in securing hospitalization and nursing care for continuing cases.

Here is an appeal everyone should participate in most generously. You will never miss the money, and just think of your contribution might be the means of helping some polio-stricken child to walk again.

UNCOUTH LANGUAGE
There are expressions of dismay; now and then, over the earthiness of language which seems to occur in modern plays and novels with remarkable frequency. This feature, apparently, is the chief claim to distinction of some pieces of contemporary literature.

Although it might be wished that they would have better taste, the writers, publishers and producers of the plays and novels cannot be given all the blame. Most of them, faced with the necessity of earning a living, lay before the public what experience has shown the public will buy. They may deviate from that practice temporarily to express a great artistic urge, but generally they must adhere to it if they would survive and prosper.

Accordingly, if there is public dissatisfaction with the tone of the literature of today, it will have little effect unless registered at the box office and the book stalls. If you want your literature expressed in clean and respectable language, tell your theatre and book store. The people who run them will listen. You're the customer.

Another British tradition is threatened—fox hunting. A bill to outlaw it has been introduced in Parliament, and is said to have 400 supporters, many more than a majority of the House of Commons. This would take away much color from the English countryside. Hunters in red coats, galloping over hedges after the hounds, are as regular a feature of the scenery as wheat fields in North Dakota. Whether the foxes feel as kindly toward the mass of numbers brought together for the undoing of a single fox, is another question.

Genuine or fake? The battle over the stone found at Kensington, Minn., is on again. If it is genuine, it records a previously unknown Norse visit to Minnesota in the middle of the 14th century. Hjalmer R. Holand, Wisconsin historian, has been the chief defender of the stone's authenticity since it was discovered in 1898. His battle has won over many scientists, chief among them the heads of the Smithsonian Institution, who now house it as a priceless relic of America's early history.

King George VI has knighted Don Bradman, the Australian who is the shining cricket star of the British Empire, so that he will spend the rest of his life under the appellation of Sir Donald Bradman. If the United States had such honors for distin-

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE DRIFT TO SOCIALISM
Of all of us in Petrograd in October, 1917, John Reed was most stirred by the Bolshevik revolution. He wrote a little book, "Ten Days That Shook the World," in which he said in 1919:

"It is still fashionable, after a whole year of the Soviet government, to speak of the Bolshevik insurrection as an 'adventure.' Adventure it was, and one of the most marvelous mankind ever embarked upon, sweeping into history at the head of the toiling masses, and staking everything on their vast and simple desires. . . .
John Reed did not live long enough to discover that the ten days that shook the world produced not freedom but slavery. Many followed Reed into Russia. Young men and women, in particular young intellectuals, viewing the inequalities of the world, in which they live and from which they benefit, often confuse the word for the act, the promise for the deed.

And so for 31 years, the vast propagandistic organization of international Communism has been focusing attention on the faults of every country. In the United States, young people found inequalities, discriminations, prejudices, which disturbed them; in fact, among the rich, the socially elect, those benefiting by every advantage in life, young men and women who in the 1890's and early 1900's might have gone into reform movements or social work, found an outlet in fighting against the effects of the depression, against the inequalities of opportunity.

They joined what became Communist Front organizations. A young man I know first joined various organizations favorable to more regular movements in China and other Far Eastern countries. He soon found himself involved in movements against discrimination of Negroes. He found that his huge contributions (he is a millionaire) were acceptable everywhere. His counsel, his education, his personality were always welcome. Nearly all the people we met on one committee were on another—and they were an interesting crowd, writers, poets, artists, revolutionists. He is now a big-shot in American Communism.

Did he drift? Maybe he drifted as a boy drifts into any gang. But there is more to it than that—much more. In the first place, this young man suffered from a guilt complex. Why did his ancestors gather together millions of dollars while others working along with them, got so little? Why did they own palaces when so many lived in hovels and tenements? This, to such a young man, was a deeply emotional matter; he could not appraise the problems he faced with cold logic. He had been to our best schools; he had been to our best universities; he had traveled the world. He had read all the books that an intelligent young man should read. He had studied modern economics, modern sociology; he knew there is no God; he believed in the materialistic interpretation of history.

But here is what happened not to the particular young man I have named but to others like him. They got jobs in various departments of government. They fell into a pattern. They produced an altogether new form of administration, one as closely modeled on the Russian pattern as was possible in the United States. They used a new language; wrote new history books; established a new concept of economics for our country.

They used their power to build more the welfare state—a state in which by taxation, by administrative law, by decrees issued by administrative agencies the middle class would be driven into the proletariat, and the proletariat would become the spoils of labor unions which they controlled by gaining the administrative positions in them.

While the war helped them to move into important positions, they nevertheless, it is a miracle that they did it at all, for the revolutionary forces let loose in 1917 were moving swiftly and effectively throughout the world. They failed in the United States, but the resistance of the American people was being worn down. A new generation appeared which had come under their influence. It could not accept Russia nor even Communism—but it did not possess the background, the knowledge, the ideals to resist the welfare state—the inevitable forerunner of socialism.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

ARTHRITIS DUE TO SECOND INFECTION

When it was found that most cases of rheumatism and arthritis were caused by infection, and that teeth and tonsils were the chief offenders, a great many infected teeth and tonsils were removed. Immediately after their removal the patient usually felt more pain and stiffness because the blood vessels, cut during the operation, absorbed the poison from the infection. However in a few weeks, or months at most, the patient became free of his pain and stiffness.

As some patients continued to have symptoms, even months after removal of the infection, it was thought that it was not the teeth and tonsils that were to blame. In fact, the humorists of 20 years ago said "the patient's teeth are all gone but he still has his rheumatism."

The reason that some patients continued to have rheumatism after removal of the infection was because the poison from the infected teeth and tonsils had gone down to the colon or large intestine, and this poison started a new infection in the blood. The blood then carried the poison from the new or second infection to the joints and muscles already affected. A vicious circle occurred.

"Analysis of various circles of infection reveals that the colon (large intestine) is the common denominator in all." I am quoting Dr. James W. Whitte, Binghamton, N. Y., in the "Review of Gastroenterology" (stomach and intestines). The colon receives these poisons from infected teeth and tonsils; the organisms, in turn, so affect the wastes in the colon that they start up a further infection, which is carried from the colon back into the general circulation of the blood to various organs and tissues of the body.

The thought, then, is that if arthritis continues after all apparent infection has been removed, then the colon should be the first organ to suspect. The colon should be cleared by a thorough purgative. With Epsom salts. Then a sulfa drug should be given to kill organisms, followed by agar-kaolin or barium sulfate to sweep out all wastes and harmful organisms. A light diet but rich in vitamins, especially B complex foods—liver, kidney, heart, beef, milk, brewer's or baker's yeast—should be eaten for several months.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Washington—The new House of Representatives has now been shaken down, had a chance to settle in new offices, and has taken a look at each other. A so-called side have had a chance to look at them. The results have not been disappointing.

In brief, the new Congress looks good. It has more war veterans, more youngsters who take their work seriously, more promising rural housing and higher educational standards. . . . Hugo Sims, South Carolina—Battled against real estate lobby, and will keep on battling. Among the top nominees for "young men of the nation" selected by Junior Chamber of Commerce. . . . John Golden, Kentucky—one of the few new Republicans elected in the South. Careful, conscientious.

The Industrial East: Foster Furcolo, Massachusetts Democrat—Came up the hard way, washing dishes and waiting on table at Yale. Got a law degree, saw naval action in the Pacific, elected in a G.O.P. district by fighting high prices and bad housing. . . . Harry O'Neill, Pennsylvania Democrat—son of a Scranton coal miner. Harry had 14 brothers and sisters, began life as a barber, switched to insurance, is a strong union man, will go down the line for the Fair Deal. . . . Abraham Ribicoff, Connecticut Democrat—gave up lucrative law practice to run for Congress. Handsome, intelligent, big vote-getter, will follow liberal line.

John McGuire, Connecticut Democrat—friendly, small-town insurance agent who's been undefeated in local and state elections. In his spare time, he'll boost Connecticut's new Governor, Chester Bowles, for the White House. . . . Peter Rodino, Newark, N. J., Democrat—fills the seat of Fred Hartley of Taft-Hartley Act fame, and has political views exactly the opposite. . . . Hugh Addonizio, Newark, N. J., Democrat—May have the makings of a new Fiorello La Guardia.

Rocky Mountain States: Wayne Aspinall, Colorado Democrat—furious campaign through one of nation's largest Congressional districts. Crossed 16 mountain passes with elevations over 10,000 feet searching votes. Dried-in-the-wool New Dealer, he'll see that the West is heard in Congress—if he has to do all the talking himself. . . . John Marsalis, Pueblo, Colo., Democrat—Bachelor at 44, a staff sergeant in the war, he learned the GI side of the army.

Interested chiefly in reclamation and labor, will vote for straight repeal of Taft-Hartley. . . . Reva Book Bosone, Utah Democrat—capable, charming amazon; keen mind, was a good judge in Utah and should make a good Congresswoman. . . . Walter Baring, Reno, Nev., Democrat—won Nevada's solitary Congressional seat by covering 30,000 miles of mountains and sagebrush in eight weeks. A mid-mannered, easygoing young westerner, he'll support the Truman Fair Deal and work for development of his state's vast mineral wealth.

Southwest Congressmen: Harold Patton, Arizona Democrat—41-year-old life insurance executive. Son of a railroad engineer, he got help from both labor and business. Favors better treatment for stricken Navajo Indians. . . . John Miles of New Mexico, former Democratic governor of his state and an old hand at government. Quiet, mild-mannered, able. Should be good middle-of-road congressman. . . . Dixie Gilmer, Oklahoma Democrat—came to Congress as a page boy at the age of 12. Today he's back after defeating G.O.P. conservative George Schwabe of Tulsa. Can deliver fiery speeches. . . . George Wilson of Enid, Oklahoma—former F.B.I. agent, idealistic and deeply religious. Real possibilities. Elected to the seat of Ross Rixley, pocket-book congressman. . . . Lloyd Benton, McAllen, Texas—in only 27 years of life he's been lawyer, judge, bomber pilot and congressman; even has a good-looking wife. If he doesn't get spoiled early, he should be good. . . . Homer Thornberry, Austin, Texas—good replacement for Senator-elect Lyndon Johnson. Will battle for rural electrification and public power. . . . Tom Steed, Shawnee, Oklahoma, Democrat—former editor of the Shawnee Morning News and Shawnee Evening Star, has served as secretary to three former congressmen, knows Washington inside out, is slated to go far.

FOLDING OF WEDDING INVITATIONS

Advice to a bride's family seems to have caused widespread confusion as is indicated in this letter: "I, too, view with alarm your instructions to fold the engraving of a wedding invitation inside. Even when you explained your instructions applied to folding, I think you lost sight of the fact that, when delivered by the engravers, the invitations come flat and have to be folded. Many people may think your advice applies to this folding. Curiously enough, since your column on the subject appeared, we have received two invitations with the engraving as the third page rather than the first."

The engraving should appear on the first page. To fold it so that the engraving is on the third page is wrong. I understand perfectly, however, why it is done. When the invitation is folded so, the back of the second page will prevent the engraved page from being smudged in a damp climate.

Setting Definite Time for Visit

Dear Mrs. Post: If a hostess writes to ask a friend to visit her, it is impolite to tell her exactly for how long she is invited to stay? If nothing is said by the hostess, should the guest bring up the subject?

Answer: A hostess always should invite a guest for however long it may be—over Sunday, for a week or two weeks or whatever. If, however, nothing is said, then a guest should say frankly, "Tell me, Mary, how long are you expecting me to stay?"

When Napkin Not Put on Plate

Dear Mrs. Post: I know it is correct, when setting a table to put the napkin on each plate, but please tell me what is correct when a first course is put on a steamed glass? Should the napkin be put at the side of the plate or should the glass be stood on the flat folded napkin or what?

Answer: There is more space for the napkin at the left of the forks. Of course, it has to be folded as narrow as possible and if the next place is very close, it may have to be crowded against the forks.

How to arrange the table for breakfast, luncheon, dinner or supper is explained in Mrs. Post's booklet, No. 504, "The Etiquette of Table Setting." To obtain a copy send 10 cents (coin preferred) and a 3-cent stamp to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Local Girl Advises Movie Star

Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 15—Few movie fans get a chance to talk to their favorite stars and offer advice. Ruth Styles of 127 West O'Reilly street, Kingston, N. Y., did it.

She chatted with Jimmy Stewart at his home in Hollywood and told him what she'd like him to do next in pictures.

Ruth's advice was solicited, too. She was one of the winners of a recent nationwide contest in which film fans were asked to tell Jimmy what the patrons want to see.

After judging thousands of letters of advice, Jimmy picked Ruth's as one of the five best and promptly called her at Kingston 1589-W to talk it over.

Miss Styles wants Jimmy to keep his characterizations varied. She told him, Her first choice is a film with a comedy background. "Do another one," she urged.

"Make pictures that can take our minds from the talk of politics, war and evils of this day and age," she suggested. She'd like to have him do a picture with a religious theme or one with a western background.

"And thanks," she told the candidate for nomination for an Oscar award, "for giving the public, as well as myself, a grand time when we go to see your pictures."

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in Arlington, Va.

Art Exhibition Continues

At New Paltz State College New Paltz, Jan. 15—Paintings by eight Syracuse watercolorists are now on exhibition at New Paltz State Teachers College. Hung in the central corridor of the main college building, the pictures will be on display until Saturday, January 22. The public is invited to view them weekdays from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Even the casual observer is struck by the variety of subjects and techniques shown in the collection. Some are distinctly realistic in approach. These include portraiture, summer landscapes, with houses and street scenes.

Others emphasize design or pattern effects using scenic basis. Two particularly interesting techniques are represented. In house and street scenes, Ralph R. Laddlaw has produced a softness of tone that is typical of pastel work, but watercolor brushstrokes are readily apparent.

Margaret E. Boehner has painted factory scenes on a light gray paper which gives a soft effect, but the crisp white of watercolors. Many of the paintings are strong in color and have a decided depth of tone. Certainly the exhibition includes a wide variety of style and subject matter in which individual artistic preferences may be satisfied.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

With Drive-In theatres in Kingston on its way with the coming of Spring, how many remember the open air theatres we had years ago? There was the Garden Theatre at 596 Broadway, between Field Court and Cornell street, which opened June 19, 1914. All four sides were enclosed but without a roof. Of course it was operated only during the summer and perhaps one got rain checks if the evening turned out stormy. I understand, the Garden Theatre was owned and operated by James L. Grogan of New York and former Recorder Henry E. Groves of Kingston. Another Alredone, as they were called then, was on East O'Reilly street, opposite the Central Fire Station. I understand it was under the management of Mr. Finley. The one I attended was on lower Broadway, near Union street. It was just an empty lot with chairs or benches. A large screen on which were shown the good old chivalric pictures with Pearl White or Ruth Roland being rescued from a fast moving train by the handsome hero, while the villain was just two steps away. We stamped our feet on the damp ground and clapped ourselves warm in the chilled night air for the hero and hissed ourselves hoarse when a close-up of the sneering villain was shown. I think they had a piano player for sound effects. As I remember, the piano players of those days did drum used notes or sheet music but watched the screen and changed their tunes and tempos with the unravelling of the plot. I guess most of them had to play by memory or ear to keep up with the ever changing events on the screen. Do you remember some of those tunes?

Then there was the good old five-cent Lyric Theatre on the Strand. Jack Holt and William S. Hart appeared to the boys and Francis X. Bushman was the ladies' matinee idol. The plots were usually thick with murder and intrigue. If the film broke a slide was shown reading "Just a minute please" or "Five minutes intermission." Everybody would applaud and stamp their feet during these breaks in the films. Uptown Wall Street had the Bijou and velvet theatres and central Broadway had the Star theatre. Those small, story-modeled movie houses held about 300 seats. No decorations, no balconies but they gave us many pleasant evenings.

The Mothers' Club of the school held a well attended meeting in the library Wednesday afternoon and refreshments were served.

The group planned a clam chowder and food sale for next Friday, January 21, from 10:30 a. m. until all is sold. This sale will be at the dry cleaning building across from the hardware store. There will be a rehearsal of the minstrel Tuesday beginning at 7:30 p. m. and a full attendance is desired. On Valentine's Day, there will be the annual parents' dinner in the library. Several members of the club attended the town board meeting at Stone Ridge Wednesday relative to securing needed playground equipment.

This is a beauty pageant similar to the one held annually at Atlantic City, except that it is in the middle of winter. I remember 50 clowns entertaining us during one session. King Boreas and his court are always introduced.

With all of this, it was a real achievement for Harry N. Dayboch, president of the Grand Slam Club of the St. Paul Dispatch-Pioneer Press, to keep his mind on making three no trump on today's hand. He let the king and queen of spades hold the first two tricks.

jack of spades, Dayboch won that trick in dummy with the ace, cashed the king of diamonds, then led the deuce of diamonds to his ace. He led the nine of diamonds back to dummy's queen and cashed the jack and seven.

At trick number nine, he led a small heart from dummy to his ace. His problem seemed to be whether to go down one or two tricks. However, he saw a possibility of making the contract if East by any chance held a singleton ace of clubs.

Therefore, he led the eight of hearts, and when West showed out, he played low from dummy. East had to win the trick with the queen and all he could do was to cash his ace of clubs. Then he had to lead from the queen-seven of hearts into dummy's king-ten, giving Dayboch his contract.

Kurtz Not Serious; Apples Are Saved

Examination by two doctors disclosed that Paul Kurtz of Ireland Corners, who was burned about his face when ammonia tanks exploded Friday morning at Sanford Orchards, Inc., was not seriously hurt and his eyes were not injured. Mrs. Kurtz reported today. Kurtz's general condition is "fine," she said, although he had one bad burn across his face.

Approximately 20,000 bushels of apples stored in two gas rooms were the source of the fire were not damaged as they were effectively protected by insulation, the family learned after investigation Friday afternoon.

Fire damage was confined to the roof, engine room, and a four-room unoccupied apartment on the second floor of the building, and is estimated at $25,000, the family reported.

Sanford Orchards, Inc., is operated by Arthur Kurtz, who is also chairman of the Ulster County Farm Bureau, and his brother, Paul Kurtz. The fire started at 7:40 a. m. Friday with the explosion from an unknown cause of ammonia tanks in the engine room.

Against Baby Market

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—Several welfare and social agency leaders have joined in an effort to obtain legislation to outlaw the so-called "black market" in babies. There has been recommended state legislation requiring supervision of children placed in adoptive homes, other than those of near relatives. There was cited the case of a couple, "both alcoholics," who arranged to have several of their babies adopted "as a recurrent source of income." Dr. Henry N. Pratt, director of New York Hospital, told how brokers arranged to have hospitals care for unmarried mothers in birth, then offered the children for adoption, at amounts up to $2,500.

Democratic Float

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—New York state will be represented by a float in President Truman's inaugural parade in Washington. Thomas E. Dewey says there are no funds to construct one. Paul E. Fitzpatrick, Democratic state committee chairman, said the committee voted to sponsor construction of a float. It will present a three-dimensional panorama of New York state, from the Empire State building to Niagara Falls, will cost approximately $2,500.

Mystery Thickens

Los Angeles, Jan. 15 (AP)—On the second anniversary of the brutal "Black Dahlia" slaying, harassed police investigators today were no closer to cracking the mystery than ever. The latest of a long string of suspects, Jeff Connors, 40, a self-styled writer, was released last night after 24-hour questioning. And the quest for the sadistic butcher-murderer of dark-haired Elizabeth Short—the "Black Dahlia"—to her friends—turned cold again.

Will Talk Wages

Chicago, Jan. 15 (AP)—Presidents of 16 non-operating railroad unions and carrier officials planned further wage and hour talks next week, indicating no immediate strike by 1,000,000 rail workers. The unions, under terms of the Railway Labor Act, will be free on Monday to call a strike at any time. January 17 marks the expiration of the 30-day cooling off period after the presidential fact-finding board's report on the dispute.

Police Station Burns

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Jan. 15 (AP)—An oil furnace explosion followed by fire wrecked the state police substation here early today. Total loss was estimated at $100,000. Police said Sgt. John J. Lutz, who was in charge of the station, Corporal Blinn and Trooper T. J. O'Hara crawled on their hands and knees from their beds and escaped through the front door of the substation.

Marshalls Leave

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 15 (AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall and Mrs. Marshall embarked by plane today for San Juan, Puerto Rico. The general, whose resignation is effective January 20, and Mrs. Marshall left their resort home here for Pope Field. The Marshalls said they planned to remain at San Juan for several weeks.

Cops Won't Go

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—Despite the reported wishes of President Truman, New York's squadrons of motorcycle policemen won't take part in the inauguration parade in Washington tomorrow. Possible "political criticism" is given as the reason.

Had Appliances

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—Daniel Hapern, 45, of 2121 Cedar avenue, the Bronx, was booked on a burglary charge early today at the Bathgate avenue station after he was taken in custody in a vacant garage where police said they recovered seven stolen refrigerators and two washing machines.

Injured in Plunge

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—A young musician, reportedly disillusioned about his career, was in a critical condition in a hospital today after a plunge from a fourth-floor apartment. Police said that John Pearce, 25, cafe and night club pianist, dropped from the window of an apartment above Carnegie Hall last night after telling a friend: "My playing is worthless."

Former Victims Big Supporters of March of Dimes

Mrs. William Powers, campaign director for the March of Dimes, reports she finds the most enthusiastic supporters of the 1949 fight against polio former victims who have been stricken with the disease. They are the first to come forward to their township chairmen and offer their services to address cards, to contact workers and to render the Chapter every possible cooperation to put the drive across during the January 14 to 31 drive.

Parents of victims are especially cooperative, often in supervising entire townships into an all-out campaign to raise as much funds as possible, for they are well aware of the tremendous cost of this expensive disease. For instance an "iron lung" victim needs 24-hour nursing care. Such cases easily run over $1,000. If the child or adult needs special shoes, they run around $85 a pair. The patient is often under medical care for several years after he is stricken with polio. The Ulster County Chapter for Infantile Paralysis is always there with financial assistance as long as it is needed. Mrs. Powers stated in a recent address.

Wrong Slant on Love, Glintz Sent to Hospital

New York, Jan. 15 (AP)—Esther Sandgarten, of Brooklyn, didn't want to see an ex-boy friend anymore. Her family told him to stop coming around.

He didn't come. But at various times, the following unwanted items did: A fire engine, an ambulance, an emergency gas truck, a mental hospital wagon, two undertakers, and a load of lumber (collect).

So Esther's sister, Frieda, signed a disorderly conduct complaint against the former boy friend, Abe Glintz, 38, charging him with dispatching the parade of vehicles to the Sandgarten address.

Before Magistrate J. Roland Sala yesterday, Glintz said only: "I am very much in love with Esther."

Ruled the magistrate: "I think you better go to Kings Hospital, there to contemplate romance and other things and let the doctors check you for a month."

Volunteers Ask About Fire Area, Offer Other Data

The following communication was received today from Russell C. Smith, spokesman for Ulster Hose Co. No. 5, relative to formation of a fire protection district:

January 15, 1949.

Kingston Daily Freeman

Kingston, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

In reference to the communication from the Town Board, Town of Ulster, appearing in last evening's copy of your paper, I, as the original chairman of the committee appointed by Ulster Hose Co. No. 5 for the purpose of initiating the formation of a fire protection district, would appreciate the opportunity of offering some additional information regarding such a district and asking some questions of the residents of the township so concerned.

On September 2, 1948, at the time our committee first appeared before the Town Board, and again on September 21, at which time a public hearing was held for the purpose of considering the formation of a fire protection district comprised of all that part of the township of Ulster with the exception of Fire District No. 5 and the Ruby-Mat, Marion Fire District.

Heretofore and as the situation is at present, the residents of the area so designated have never been assured of fire protection through any sort of contract but have depended on the voluntary response of Ulster Hose Co. No. 5 and any companies which might wish to come to their assistance.

We as a fire company were willing to contract for this entire area or any part thereof. In reply to a letter from the Town Board presented herewith, we originally proposed to furnish fire protection for what the Town Board has so ambiguously mentioned in their communication as "a portion of the proposed fire district for one year for the sum of $5,000."

Whether or not this "portion" of the district is properly intended to be construed as meaning a portion or that it actually represents almost the entire district, I leave to the minds of the readers to interpret in accordance with the letter from the Town Board herewith presented.

TOWN OF ULSTER

Edward M. Every, Clerk

42 Esopus Avenue, Kingston, N. Y.

Ulster Hose Co. No. 5, Inc.

Albany Ave. Ext.

Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sirs: At a public hearing Sept. 21, 1948, held in the Town Garage, if the people wanted a Fire Protection District in the Town of Ulster, and it was brought out that the people wanted a Fire Protection District.

The Town Board has directed me to write your Company to see if your Company is interested in putting in a bid to cover Lake Katrine, East Kingston, Glenview Park, Flatbush Road, Ulster Landing and all the places in that section, Plank Road, Sawkill Road to the Sawkill Creek.

Please send in your bids by October 18th, 1948.

By orders of Town Board
TOWN OF ULSTER
EDWARD M. EVERY Clerk

The public hearing concerning the formation of the proposed fire protection district was held on September 21, 1948. Action on this hearing was taken by the Town Board on January 6, 1949, when they finally decided that it was not in the public interest to establish the district in question.

Is it logical to believe that such a lengthy period of deliberation was necessary in order to arrive at this decision? "Various hamlets" mentioned in the January 6 resolution existed on September 21 at the time of the public hearing.

The "large section" mentioned in the resolution is the large section of the town of Ulster during the period in the past when Ulster Hose Co. No. 5 has voluntarily but effectively given protection to the area concerned. Is it to be assumed that the expenditure of public moneys for the purchase of road equipment or snow removal machinery is of greater importance and necessity than the allocation of equivalent sums for the purpose of providing fire protection where no such fire protection is at present provided for? Is the one more necessary or more in the public interest than the other?

Alluding to the portions of the minutes of the meeting of the Town Board held on January 6, 1949, which accompanied the Town Board's communication appearing in last evening's paper, we wish to quote a section thereon and ask a question thereon. "We regret that Ulster Hose Co. No. 5, through a misunderstanding of the necessity of giving this whole matter serious deliberation, has seen fit to terminate at this time any fire protection to property outside the Ulster Fire District, since it has been the ardent hope of the members of the Town Board that after its deliberation on January 6, 1949, the people in the various hamlets would immediately petition the Town Board to form fire protection districts embracing their respective neighborhoods, and that upon such districts being formed, contracts might be made with Ulster Hose Co., or such other companies as the people affected might select."

To the best of our understanding, in accordance with the provisions of the town law, people in certain neighborhoods or sections do not have the prerogative of selecting fire companies which may give them the protection which they require. This still remains a matter solely at the discretion of the Town Board. It is one of the duties of the Town Board in procuring such fire protection.

On many occasions in the past during my activity in behalf of proposition which we have supported, I have emphatically stated that I have refrained from the use of personalities. I still present the National Labor Relations Board.

Those features and several others which had no place in the committee measure found their way into the bill which became law over President Truman's veto. They are not necessarily provisions which Taft and Ives might agree to eliminate.

Taft says he is confident that all the major Taft-Hartley provisions will survive the repeal drive. But he apparently is willing to modify or get rid of some others to win votes for what he regards as the essential sections.

Ives and Taft were on opposite sides of the fence on a number of issues when the law was making its way through Congress. But the new alliance represents an effort to keep those provisions on which they agree. Taft and Morse will have to present a united front in the Senate in order to come up with the kind of legislation they want.

"We can't have one of us facing one way and the others some other way," he said.

Morse has come out for repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, but he says the Wagner Act changes the President is seeking do not go far enough.

His differences with Taft might be reconciled if the 1947 Senate committee bill which he favored becomes the basis for new legislation.

States of Indonesia not later than April 1, 1950. All Dutch forces would be out of Indonesia before that date.

Dr. J. H. Van Royen of The Netherlands told the council his government would not agree to a council order to withdraw its troops from Republican territory, because there might be a danger of renewal of disorders.

Van Royen said he hoped the temporary government would be instituted within one month; that elections under U.N. supervision would be held in the third quarter of this year; and that the transfer of sovereignty to a United States of Indonesia would be completed by Jan. 1, 1950.

Indonesian leaders have consistently objected to the Dutch plans, declaring the Dutch are trying to set up a U. S. of Indonesia with their own "puppets" in control.

Players on the winning squad included Joe Erena, Don Wilson, Lee Wells, Walt Fairrote and Pat Manfro. The Navy squad included: Pat Camp, Jack Sheridan, Ronald Thomas, John Letus and Albert Capino.

The argument solely on the basis of principle. The people of Fire District No. 5, have been paying for fire protection for the whole township. This, I think you will agree, is an undesirable situation and one which needs correction. As we mentioned in our notice to your paper, we believe that the residents of the unprotected area would not be adverse to the payment of approximately $2 per year for the average taxpayer.

I hope that the foregoing might in some small way have clarified the existing situation and in consequence attract the attention of the people in the area referred to above, that the final decision, petitions or no petitions, rest where it should rest, with the Town Board, the representatives of the people.

Yours, Truly,

RUSSELL C. SMITH.

navian defensive arrangement would not work.

The policy of the western powers has been to block aggression by aligning friendly nations in critical areas of the world into a defensive barrier against Communism.

Toward that end, the United States, Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Canada now are putting the finishing touches on the proposed North Atlantic regional security system.

The project is expected to be one of the first important matters taken up by Dean Acheson's next week, following his expected Sen-
